

FPPM II. F – Addition to Attendance policy for 2021-22

If a student is at risk of missing more than 10% of a course due to COVID-19 quarantine or illness, faculty should work with the student to determine a reasonable path forward based on medical information, grades to date, and time remaining in the semester. Faculty are encouraged to count attendance in ways that are consistent with health and safety. Faculty may require virtual synchronous viewing, watching recorded lectures or participation in online activities, assignments or discussion boards.
